

Certification of REACH/ RoHS Compliance

Re: EU REACH regulation: Compliance for Substances in Articles.

I advise that I am a duly authorized representative of my employer to grant the following certification:

1. Our company is aware of its obligations as an Article supplier under the REACH regulation and its annexes.
2. Our company is aware of the definition of an 'Article' according to the Reach Regulation.
3. Our company is aware of the definition of a 'Complex object' i.e. object composed of several articles according to the ECHA Guidance on requirements for substances in article.

4. Our Company is aware of its obligations under the RoHS European Directive 2011/65/EU and its amendments and subsequent annexes.
5. This certificate covers all the products supplied in this shipment including their associated packaging materials,

To the best of our knowledge and belief none of the products supplied to Anglia Components contain any of the Substances of Very High Concern listed in the Candidate List (as and when updated). with a concentration above 0,1% (w/w)

Please find hereafter the link of ECHA website which contains the last published version of the Candidate List.

Each time the Candidate List is reviewed by ECHA, AAMP undertake to review with their suppliers if Substances of Very High Concern with a concentration above 0,1% (w/w) (or as amended) are present in the products supplied.
